

The image shows a close-up of a muddy, brownish-grey ground. In the center, there is a small, shallow puddle of water. Scattered around the puddle and across the ground are numerous small, dry, light-colored leaves and twigs. The text "hello bicycle..." is superimposed over the puddle in a pink, rounded, handwritten-style font with a black outline.

hello
bicycle...

This is my bicycle

I haven't used it for a while.

Like my bike,
I am dusty & dilapidated.

It is time for some maintenance.

cycling
blows away
the cobwebs.

you glide
through the world

feeling
independent
of it

and yet
you feel the
wind, the rain,
the cold

and you feel
connected
to it

Sometimes
too connected.

@dorismccomics

